Reading Eggs

Key Question Week 9: Does your skin have a pattern?
Key Text for Linked Learning: Tinga Tales and The Wisp
Linked Learning: Art, DT, English, Music and History
To begin our first week back after Lockdown the children will spend the first day reading and exploring the story The Wisp. This is a story of Hope that will complement the current situation and provide opportunities to explore language features, the children will explore emotions related to the story in their Personal development and wellbeing lessons as well as making their own Wisp. For the rest of the week the children will be spending each day planning small sections of their own Tinga Tale incorporating a character and setting description, based on last week's learning, as well as a problem and a resolution, taking inspiration from the tales they have explored. They will focus on using expanded noun phrases, correct punctuation, co-ordination and editing and improving in their work. Children will continue exploring African art related to the Tinga Tinga Tales. They will be looking at pattern and colour and will be investigating impressionist art by Edward Saidi, focussing on the bright, bold colours and simplistic designs that were all inspired by his African surroundings. Additionally, they will analyse the meanings behind one of his pieces of work. In Music this week, the children will be using tuned instruments (glockenspiels) to accompany an African song, 'Hands, feet, heart'. In History, children will be introduced to the significant figure of Nelson Mandela and will learn facts about his life. They will also revisit their knowledge of time lines by creating a timeline of his life.
Maths: This week the children will be learning how to subtract 2-digit amounts of money by counting up. They will be using beaded lines, penny lines and landmarked number lines to help them solve different subtraction calculations. Towards the end of the week, the children will be investigating which methods are most efficient for the different calculations (counting up or back).
Science: Children will understand the basic needs of all animals including humans for survival such as water, food and air.
History: see above
Geography: Children will be introduced to the country of Tanzania and will begin to compare weather patterns with our local area.
Computing: The children will continue to look at the features of an email such as an email address, subject, message and attachments.
Music: see above
Art: see above
Design Technology: see above
PDW: The children will make comparisons between themselves and children who live in Tanzania thinking about what is the same and what is different.
R.E: Linked to the work the children will be completing on Africa they will be taking time to be mindful of suffering of those in third world countries.
P.E: In P.E. this week, the children will explore African dance and how the music affects the mood. They will create a series of freeze frames to suit the mood and music. Children will focus on creating big, sharp movements to emphasise the mood of the music.

Here is a list of the Year 2 spellings, which the children are expected to learn off by heart by the end of Year 2. They are stuck into the homework books but just in case you need a new copy.

Visualisation

Turn your rectangle to portrait. Draw stars in your small rectangle. Sketch a thin, snake like cloud, dancing between the spaces of the stars. The snake like cloud is brilliant white and is shooting at speed through the sky, leaving a trail of misty debris. The night sky is radiant blue, as it has been lit up by a bright sphere that is on the end of the dancing cloud, plummeting down, sparkling as bright as a diamond in the sun.

Write all of these words in a sentence making sure they are spelt correctly.

Punctuation Lets punctuate these sentences together rhinoceros hornbills are recognised by their large bill (beak) the hollow 'horn' on top of their beak is called a 'casque' this acts a bit like a megaphone and helps to make their calls louder sumatran tigers can only be found on sumatra. They are the smallest of the tiger species they also have the narrowest stripes sumatran tigers are strong swimmers and have webbed feet emerald cuckoos can be spotted by their vivid green feathers they are usually found high in the canopy, hunting insects on trees and plants.

Now its your turn, use a different colour pen to add punctuation orangutans spend almost all of their lives in the trees and rarely travel on the ground more than half of their day is spent eating fruits such as figs lychees and durian fruit

tapirs have a long snout a bit like an elephant's trunk They use their snout to grab leaves and fruit to eat they are strong swimmers and can use their snout to breathe underwater a bit like a snorkel

Today we are writing own Tinga tale, you will need to use your plan from yesterday. You will need to write the beginning of your story with a character description and a middle to your story with a setting description.

Here's an example:

Why lion has a mane

Lion was a dull, beige colour and his fur was very short all over. He walked around very proud but he felt very sad. His eyes were always scrunched up small like the edge of a thin leaf. This was because the sun was always so very bright. He was always trying to find a shady spot underneath the tress of the brightly, colourful jungle.

His friends kept inviting him to a playdates, Hippo had invited him to a pool party at the water hole. The glistening water was always cool and refreshing. The sun danced about on the surface like a flashing disco ball. But Lion knew he couldn't go, because the sun hurt his eyes. Lion began to feel alone and in the dark shade all the time, tears started to roll down his cheeks. The other animals didn't know what to do, they started to feel sad too, and then they didn't want to have any more gatherings because they didn't want Lion to very empty and gloomy inside.

The three, cheeky, colourful monkeys had an idea, if we all climb up on Lion's neck and carry leaves, they will shade you from the bright sun, then everyone can enjoy spending time together. So the monkeys climbed up on the Lions strong, regal neck, each Monkey holding a long green leaf with one hand. The problem was there wasn't enough room for all three of them around Lion's neck and it was hard to balance with only one hand holding on.

History

Nelson Mandela was born in South Africa in 1918.

Until 1992, the government in South Africa ran an apartheid. An apartheid is when black people have to live apart from white people.

Most black people had no jobs, were very poor and could not vote because of this.

In 1944 he joined the African National Congress.

They made protests about the apartheid but Nelson was arrested and jailed twice for being the leader of the ANC.

Nelson grew up in a village and went away to study law when he was a young man. He wanted to help free black people from apartheid.

In 1960 the government arrested many black people for taking part in these protests.

In 1963 Nelson was sent to prison for taking part in these protests.

This is the cell where Nelson Mandela spent 27 years in prison.

He was released in 1990 after the laws were changed.

In 1991 he became president of the ANC and encouraged the president of Africa to end apartheid.

He won the 1993 Nobel Peace Prize for this and then became president of South Africa in 1994 - and black people were allowed to vote for the first time.

He worked to bring peace to the country and to help black people.

He retired in 1999 and spent his time travelling the world helping other countries solve their problems.

Rest In Peace...

In 2013 Nelson Mandela died at the age of 95.

Today you are going to write the ending to your Tinga Tinga story.

Here is an example:

The Lion started to walk towards the water hole with a beaming smile across his face, his eyes were open wide like huge pools of water. The monkeys, however, started to fall off, so they grabbed Lions fur around his neck with all their might. The hair started to pull and it got longer and longer, they monkeys let go and grabbed other areas of fur. The Lion screamed "Get off me, monkeys", which they did quickly as Lion could be quite grumpy. All the animals looked at Lion, they had shock on their faces. Lion now had long hair all around his face. Lion looked in to the water at his reflection and roared very loudly, in anger. The monkeys quickly said "But Lion, you are standing out in the sun, and yours eyes are open wide, the hair is creating shade for you" The Lion roared again in happiness. He exclaimed "I will call my long hair a mane".

Why lion has a mane

Lion was beige and his fur was very short. He was very proud but he felt very sad. His eyes were always squinted up his was because the sun was always so very bright. He was always trying to find a shady spot underneath the trees of the jungle

His friends kept inviting him to a playdates, Hippo had invited him to a pool party at the water hole. The water looked nice. The sun was bright. But Lion knew he couldn't go, because the sun hurt his eyes, he was sad. The other animals didn't know what to do, they started to feel sad too, and then they didn't want to have any more gatherings because they didn't want Lion to be sad.

The three, cheeky, colourful monkeys had an idea, if we all climb up on Lion's neck and carry leaves, they will shade you from the sun, then everyone can enjoy spending time together. So the monkeys climbed up on the Lions neck, each Monkey holding a leaf. The problem was there wasn't enough room for all three of them around Lion's neck and it was hard to balance with only one hand holding on.

The Lion started to walk towards the water hole. His eyes were open. The monkeys, however, started to fall off, so they grabbed Lions fur around his neck with all their might. The hair started to pull and it got longer and longer, the monkeys let go and grabbed other areas of fur. The Lion screamed "Get off me, monkeys", which they did quickly as Lion could be quite grumpy. All the animals looked at Lion, they had shock on their faces. Lion now had long hair all around his face. Lion looked in to the water at his reflection and roared very loudly, in anger. The monkeys quickly said "But Lion, you are standing out in the sun, and yours eyes are open, the hair is creating shade for you" The Lion roared again in happiness. He exclaimed "I will call my long hair a mane".
