SAFEGUARDING; ROAD SAFETY

Road Safety Week is celebrated during the third week of November each year. The week is dedicated to promoting road safety awareness and advocating for safer roads and responsible driving behaviour. This week-long observance aims to reduce road accidents and save lives by encouraging individuals, communities, and organizations to prioritize road safety measures. Why is Road Safety Week important?

- Every day, six children are killed or seriously injured on UK roads
- Every year, more than 1500 people are killed on UK roads and more than 25,000 people suffer serious injuries
- Road crashes are devastating events for families, friends and communities.

BEHAVIOUR; LOVING ATTACHMENTS

- Research shows that a child's ability to form relationships and to learn is shaped by the child's early experiences
- The nature of a child's primary attachments to caregivers lay the foundations for socioemotional well-being and therefore children's capacity to learn
- Secure attachment relationships correlate strongly with higher academic attainment, better self-regulation and social competence
- Educators themselves need to establish an attachment-like relationship with their pupils, particularly with challenging and vulnerable pupils, in order to enhance learning opportunities for all.
